

Boleyn Ground going under the hammer

Comments to proposal closed on Friday 13th

Friday 13th 2015 will be remembered as unlucky for some as it was the last day to comment on the proposals for the future of The Boleyn Ground, the home of West Ham Football Club. The stadium will be demolished once West Ham vacate to the Olympic Stadium at the end of the 2015/16 season.

Developments at The Boleyn Ground, which is just around the corner and visible from NPW's office, will add an extra 245 children to the area and plans for 315 new car parking spaces, which will impact significantly on traffic-flow.

However, 476sqm has been set aside in the development for possible education use.

The Newham Borough Council website announced a proposal for the: "Demolition of the West Ham United Football Ground and ancillary outbuildings to enable a comprehensive redevelopment of the site; including the erection of 15 new buildings, rising to 3 to 13 storeys, (including a basement on part of the site), to deliver 838 new residential homes (use class C3) in a mix of unit sizes, 476 sqm (Gross Internal Area) of use class D1 floor space and 402 sqm (Gross Internal Area) of flexible use class A1 and/or A2 and/or A3 and/or A4 and/or B1 and/or D1 and/or D2 floor space, together with associated cycle parking, car parking, highways, landscaping, and infrastructure works."

Under the proposal from Savill, the developer, a third of the houses built in the space will be appropriate for families, with three or more bedrooms, meanwhile two-thirds of the building will be one or two bedrooms, making the majority of the development pitched for commuters, particularly given the proximity of the site to Upton Park Underground Station. Information on the proposal is publically available from the Council.

Do you really believe that non-selective schools can provide as high quality an education as any other school in the country?

Are you passionate about high quality teaching?

Do you want to work in a school where they ask every day 'what is the best way to do this'?

Is your own teaching outstanding, and do you have the skills and knowledge to help others develop their teaching?

Are you resilient, imaginative, thoughtful, conscientious and determined?

Do you treat staff and students the way that you expect to be treated yourself?

Are you continuously on the lookout for examples of outstanding practice which your institution can learn from?

Lister Community School is a large 11-16 comprehensive school at the heart of its community, and part of a soft federation with our 7 nearest primary schools. Student attainment is rising: our headline 5ACEM figure has risen from 38% in 2010 to 55% in 2013 and we were named in January 2014 as one of the 100 most improved schools. Our November 2013 Ofsted report spoke of the school's 'consistent focus on raising the quality of teaching and developing a culture of learning and high aspirations across the school'. We are determined to build on our recent Ofsted judgement and continue our journey to becoming an Outstanding school in the next two years.

We are determined to provide as good a quality of education as at any school in the country, and to measure ourselves against the best. Our staff regularly visit other schools as part of our Outstanding Practice Programme and this has developed the school's 'outward looking' ethos. Our students are friendly, courteous, motivated and have high aspirations. The school benefits from a range of external partnerships including becoming the first partner school in the Music in Secondary Schools Trust, supported by the Andrew Lloyd Webber Music Foundation and the Charles Wolfson Charitable Trust, and working in collaboration with Highbury Grove School in Islington.

As part of our continued focus on further developing the quality of teaching we are seeking to appoint a dynamic Science Teacher to join our dedicated Science Faculty. If you think you have the potential to become an outstanding teacher of science and can benefit from working with our dynamic team, email jobs@lister.newham.sch.uk for an application pack.
